

Introduction to GB energy markets: Training from Energy UK

The voice of the energy industry

It is an exciting time in the energy sector as decarbonisation, decentralisation, democratisation and digitisation transform the sector.

Whether you are new to the energy sector, or want to stay up-to-date with the latest developments, Energy UK's 'Introduction to GB Energy Markets' course provides an engaging and all-encompassing overview of the sector.

From the energy trilemma to low carbon generation policy, and from security of supply to the changing nature of the retail market and how the future energy system may look, you will receive a comprehensive introduction to the GB energy market from Energy UK experts.

Course outline:

The one-day training course covers:

- An introduction to the UK energy industry;
- An overview of the electricity and gas markets;
- Understand how energy is supplied and current retail market arrangements
- A breakdown of the key components of energy bill;
- Explaining the ‘trilemma’ and the key policies to achieve balance;
- Knowledge of the UK generation portfolio and wholesale market; and
- An exploration of the key changes, challenges and future for the energy sector.

The course is run as a group session at Energy UK’s office in London.

Cost:

- £125 +VAT per attendee (Energy UK member rate)
- £225 +VAT per attendee (non-members)

A light breakfast and lunch are provided, with coffee and tea served throughout the day.

There is a limit of 3 people per company / organisation for each session due to the popularity of the course and demand for spaces.

Ask us about bespoke group training

For larger groups we can also provide a bespoke session for up to a maximum of 25 people, either at your location or the Energy UK offices in London. The cost is £2,500 +VAT (Energy UK member rate) / £4,500 +VAT (non-members) plus expenses.

“I came away with a much better understanding of the energy market”

For further information please email:

events@energy-uk.org.uk

www.energy-uk.org.uk

The team:

The course is delivered by a number of Energy UK policy experts.

“Informative and concise - perfect”

“Hugely useful overview.
I learned a lot, and it was great to meet people who work in the energy sector”

Who should attend?

This training course is aimed at:

- those starting a career in the energy industry;
- those working in the energy industry who want to further their knowledge of gas and electricity markets; and
- people working for companies that support those in the energy industry.

“Good insight into the market”

This training course is CPD certified.

Energy UK
26 Finsbury Square
London EC2A 1DS
@energyukcomms
www.energy-uk.org.uk